

I think the do not call list in NJ is completley rediculious. I think you should have the same regulations as other states not more stringent. I am a former restaurant manager that became a Regional Vice President and I dont ever have to go to a job again I own my business and I do the right thing for families helping them and making a difference in the world. I cant even call my Dad because he's on the do not call list. Thats a misuse of the law. You who make the laws should be forced to leave your income and have to rely 100% on telephone prospecting before you set up the law and see how you like it. Because you get all your benifits from entrepeneurs from people like me who quit their jobs therby freeing up a job for someone else and at the same time build a business that employs someone else that creates a 2nd job. Pluss all the taxes my business pays and the income tax I pay. You guys should give us small business entrepenures a break and think about how it is to be us for a second . If it were not for small businesses and their marketing efforts the economy would be in the basket. It really burns me up.
